

In the troublemaker scenario, the customer complains that he received the shoes with a broken box. The shoes are OK but it's a gift so the broken box is not acceptable. The customer behaves offensive and you need to be patient with him. And he won't accept any solutions except a refund.